

Biography

Sarah Ward

Deputy Chief Nurse
Chesterfield Royal Hospital NHS Trust

Sarah joined Chesterfield Royal Hospital in 2019 as Deputy Chief Nurse, having held nurse leadership and general management posts across the East Midlands, South West and Western Australia. Her clinical experience spans Critical Care, Organ Donation and Transplantation, Oncology, Palliative and End of Life Care - and she is driven by a passion for excellence in care quality and patient experience.

She originally trained in Cambridgeshire and her healthcare experience spans over 30 years - across primary, secondary and voluntary sectors. She is committed to leadership development at all levels and has a Master's in Healthcare Leadership, BSc Nursing and Diplomas in Critical Care and Transplant Coordination.